

Orren Pike

Orc / 26 / Dockworker, salvage hand & wrestler

Tall and thick through the chest, with grey-green skin, small lower tusks, and dark hair tied in a short queue. His left ear is flattened from wrestling. He handles delicate cups with conspicuous care.

Personality: Courteous, literal, and fond of dreadful verse. He dislikes intimidation dressed up as leadership. His weakness is accepting a hard physical job before admitting he needs help.

Background: Orren learned salvage work and wrestling on Vellbridge's wharves. Hired to unload the last wagon, he stayed to lift it when the flood came.

Goal: Earn an honest living with his strength while protecting his neighbours and company partners.

Bond: Mara gave him responsibility during the rescue without treating him as expendable muscle. He trusts her to ask for his judgement as well as his strength.

"Which end do you want lifted?"

TALENTS & ANCESTRY

Adrenaline Surge

Once per combat, immediately after becoming Wounded or Fatigued, ignore their test, Movement, and Combat Order penalties until the end of Orren's next turn. Also ignore the first 1 HP lost to Bleeding during that time. Bleeding continues afterwards. Exhausted, unconscious, and Dying are unaffected.

Wrestler

While already grappling, spend a Combat Action and win an opposed Unarmed Combat (54%) test. Choose: deal normal unarmed damage (armour applies); make the target drop one held item at their feet; or throw them to an adjacent space, leaving them prone and ending the grapple. The GM may bar outcomes against impossible Size or anatomy.

Subdue

Make a blunt Close Combat or Unarmed attack. If not stopped, roll normal weapon/unarmed damage plus DM, then apply partial Parry and armour. Reaching the target's Major Wound Level leaves them unconscious, stable, with no HP lost. Otherwise, inflict only the weapon's minimum listed damage, reduced by partial Parry and armour. Talent damage bonuses do not apply. The target wakes at scene end, immediately upon damage, or after successful Healing as a Combat Action.

The person behind the muscle

Orren checks a lifting strap before trusting it and offers a practical share of the work. He takes promises literally and recites terrible verses with complete sincerity. If he takes on too much, offer him a specific share of the load to hand over. He wants people to feel safer when he arrives.
